

Race and Moral Leadership

IN THE U.S. JUDICIAL SYSTEM

An open forum discussion featuring Carlton Reeves

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 27, 2015, 4 PM
BRYANT HALL ROOM 207

This forum is open to all students, faculty, staff, and community members.
Anyone needing accommodations related to disabilities, contact Dr. Eric Thomas Weber at etweber@olemiss.edu.

We are grateful for the generous support of the Mississippi Humanities Council and The University of Mississippi's College of Liberal Arts.

U.S. District Judge Carlton Reeves presided over the trial of three men who were convicted of a racially motivated murder. Judge Reeves delivered a speech at the sentencing that caught national attention for its message and moral leadership.

Dr. Eric Thomas Weber will be moderating the discussion. Dr. Weber is associate professor of Public Policy Leadership at the University of Mississippi.

THE UNIVERSITY of MISSISSIPPI